Course 1 Women Taking the Helm - Introduction to Boat Handling

This course is a seminar designed to give women a running start at attaining the knowledge and skills needed to become a competent first mate or skipper.

Have you considered what you would do if the skipper of your boat were incapacitated? Are you prepared?

The first two hours of the course are held in a classroom where you are introduced to the knowledge needed to start you on the path to become an asset on your boat and not just a passenger. This course includes basic navigation, electronics, engine operation, helm, and emergency preparedness.

The next four hours are spent on board, demonstrating pre-departure inspection, safety equipment, and basic boat handling.

Bring your lunch and enjoy the day. This course is available year round in our covered boat.
